Product Range

Chuan Spa Treatments and the Five Elements

The foundation of our Chuan Signature Treatments and menu offerings is Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) and the Wu Xing five elemental forces of wood, fire, earth, metal, and water. These life elements combined with your energy flow and the influence of hot and cold have great influence on your well-being.

Spending a moment to complete a five-element questionnaire at the beginning of your journey ensures your therapy addresses the imbalances of your life elements. Your selected element may change on a daily basis and is affected by what you eat, seasons of the year, as well as your bio-rhythms.

Our range of five-element essential oils, incense, candles, and teas have been created exclusively and in consultation with professionals in Chinese Medicine and Naturopathy.

Traditional Chinese Medicine Treatments

Chinese master practitioners use cultural beliefs to interpret the states of well-being. Any disharmony of the equilibrium of Yin and Yang or disturbance in their flow of Qi can cause imbalance. The task of a Chinese Master of Acupuncture & Oriental Medicine is to restore such imbalance. Some treatments include Acupuncture, Moxibustion and Ho Guan (Cupping). The aim is to supplement the deficiency of either Yin or Yang or to reduce the excess. The holistic approach of Chinese medicine is to treat the body as a whole and address any imbalance.

Traditional Chinese Medical Consultation and Treatments

Chuan Spa's Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) initial treatment session includes a consultation by our qualified Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine practitioner to interpret your state of well-being and relative treatment(s) will be prescribed.

Please refer to the Spa Concierge or Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine for all other specialized Traditional Chinese Medicine Treatments available at Chuan Spa at The Langham, Chicago.

Prescribed treatment(s) may include:

Acupuncture + Adjunct Therapy + Massage Therapy

One of the following adjunct TCM therapies can be added to a patient's Acupuncture + Massage Therapy treatment to enhance the overall benefits. The use of these adjunct TCM therapies can be seamlessly incorporated into one's Acupuncture + Massage Therapy treatment at the recommendation of our Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine upon initial consultation.

Moxibustion

An ancient traditional Chinese technique to help strengthen the blood and stimulate the flow of 'Qi' to maintain general health. Moxibustion involves the burning of a small, spongy Chinese herb, known as moxa, to facilitate healing. The Master Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine will light one end of a moxa stick and hold it close to an acupressure point for several minutes to bring about a pleasant heat sensation penetrating deeply into the skin.

Gua Sha

As a traditional Chinese treatment, the Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine will repeat pressured strokes over the body in which the skin is scraped to stimulate blood flow and healing. Practitioners believe Gua Sha releases unhealthy elements from injured areas of the body and promotes wellness.

Massage Therapy + Adjunct Therapy

Any one or two adjunct TCM therapies can be combined with a massage therapy service. The combinations are limitless with oversight from our Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine. For those whose curiosity lies deeper than our Chuan Signature Massages – designed as a level one introduction into Traditional Chinese Medicine, adjunct therapies serve as an excellent deeper, level two introduction into the world of Traditional Chinese Medicine, embracing its holistic approach.

Some example recommendations upon initial consultation with our Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine may include:

Chuan Harmony Massage + Moxibustion

Moxibustion heat therapy directed at specific acupressure points strengthens the rebalancing, nourishing and relaxation benefits of Chuan Harmony massage. Points/channels chosen for moxibustion based on the Elemental Questionnaire and guest's specific needs.

Therapeutic Massage + Gua Sha + Moxibustion

Healing benefits of therapeutic massage are intensified when combined with moxibustion and Gua Sha. Moxibustion warms and nourishes while Gua Sha helps to release trigger points, increase circulation of Qi and blood, and flush out toxins.

*Traditional Chinese Medicine Treatments require 24-hour advance scheduling and/or are available based upon availability. All Traditional Chinese Medicine treatments and adjunct therapies require an initial consultation and will be overseen by our Master of Acupuncture and Oriental Medicine.
